

Jersey City Police Captain Suspended.

Capt. James H. Kelly of the First precinct, Jersey City, was suspended from duty at last night's meeting of the board of police commissioners pending trial on charges of incapacity, misconduct and neglect of duty. He was specifically accused of failing to suppress George Ormsby's Hotel Astor at 33 Montgomery street, which was raided by Capt. James F. Larkins, chief of the detective bureau, on December 13. President Gleeson and Commissioner Farmer took part in the raid and saw fourteen men and women captured.

Lobo—Piza.

Miss Eva Aline Piza, daughter of the late Joshua Piza of this city, and Arthur Lobo of Havana, Cuba, were married last night at the home of the bride's mother, 229 West Ninety-seventh street. The bride, who wore a dress of white satin, trimmed with duchesse lace, was given away by her uncle, Isaac Brandon. Her brother, Alvin Piza, was best man, and her sister, Miss Aileen Piza, was maid of honor. Three nieces of the bride were bridesmaids. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Pereira Mendes. Mr. and Mrs. Lobo will go to live in Havana, where the bridegroom is engaged in business as an architect. He is a graduate of the class of '04, fine arts, at Columbia.

ants and the Huguenot Society of America. He made his home in this city at the Union League Club, of which he had long been a member.

Alonzo E. Horton, oldest inhabitant and founder of San Diego, Cal., died yesterday at the age of 95. Horton went from Connecticut in 1851, and bought in 1867 880 acres on San Diego Bay, the site of the present city, for 26 cents an acre. He had the land surveyed and laid out the city, selling lots and giving away fourteen blocks for public purposes. He built the first hotel and expended large sums to make San Diego a city.

Duncan J. McKinley, who had long been active in Republican politics in the Sheepshead Bay section in Brooklyn, died on Wednesday at his home in East Sixteenth street in his sixty-ninth year. He was connected with the office of the Commissioner of Records. He was the first auditor of the Brighton Beach Racing Association and for several years was superintendent of the Gravesend water works.

Catherine M. Meyer, wife of John C. Meyer, who served as matron of the Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital for thirty-three years, died on Wednesday at her home, 161 Clinton street, in her sixty-ninth year. In addition to her husband she is survived by her son, Dr. David W. Meyer, and a daughter.

Miss Mary Ireland, the oldest member of the board of managers of the Brooklyn Orphan Asylum, died on Wednesday at her home, 105 Macon street, in her eighty-third year. She is survived by her brother, John H. Ireland, a member of the law firm of Cross, Austin & Ireland, and a sister.